What ever happened to the "Baker's Dozen?"

REMEMBER WHEN the baker dropped in an extra doughnut to keep us coming back for more? It was his way of providing something extra—something of value.

Today, the extra doughnut is almost extinct. But S&H Green Stamps—a refinement of the baker's dozen—are still providing that extra something of value.

Every customer benefits. Unlike promotions that offer only the slim possibility of a free trip to Europe or a set of encyclopedias, S&H Green Stamps reward each shopper fairly—in proportion to the amount of money spent.

Merchandise value exceeds stamp cost to retailer. Though the average retail value of a filled book of S&H Green Stamps is approximately $3.00, the average cost to a retailer for those stamps is considerably less. S&H's volume purchasing direct from manufacturers and its computerized distribution system make this possible.

Painless saving. Stamp-saving permits homemakers to acquire desirable items without invading the regular family budget.

Brand name merchandise. The more than 1,800 products available with S&H Green Stamps are among the finest produced by leading American manufacturers. They're tailored to the taste and desires of today's modern families.

An earned discount for prompt payment. Through most of the business cycle, from supplier to manufacturer to wholesaler to retailer, the seller rewards the buyer with a discount for prompt payment. With S&H Green Stamps, a retailer can also reward those customers who make prompt payment for goods purchased.

Husker-Sooner Game National Turkey Day Fare

By DON BRYANT

Sports Information Director, University of Nebraska

Finale—1965. That's the Turkey Day menu for the Nebraska Cornhuskers and the Oklahoma Sooners as they square off before millions of television viewers this afternoon.

All the drama and tension possible is wrapped up in this annual Big 8 classic, which is being televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Company—with voice descriptions by a famed and talented trio: Lindsey Nelson, Terry Brennan and Bud Wilkinson.

It was just a year ago that the Cornhuskers rolled into Norman with a 9-0 record and a chance for a perfect season, the first since 1915. Coach Gomer Jones' Sooners popped the balloon, 17-7, in a stunner.

Ironically, the same situation exists today. Nebraska, ranked near the top of the nation's grid powers all season, has a perfect 9-0 mark. The Sooners have a 3-5 record. Last year Nebraska had accepted a Cotton Bowl bid before the upset; this year the Huskers have accepted an Orange Bowl bid and will be hoping to avenge the 1964 disappointment.

Nebraska, winner of the Big 8 title for two consecutive years, can clinch a third straight championship with a victory today. The Husker string started at Memorial Stadium in 1963 when the Scarlets ripped the Sooners, 29-20.

It was Bud Wilkinson's finale against the Cornhuskers, and the great Sooner coach is here today as part of the NBC crew—no doubt remembering how the aroused Scarlets bombed his team 29-7 during the first three quarters, and how valiantly his team roared back in the final minutes to close the gap.

All Nebraskans join in welcoming the University of Oklahoma coaches and players, the NBC television staff and crewmen and sending across the nation today a hearty "Happy Thanksgiving" to all Americans from Football Country—U.S.A.

That way, come commencement, you'll have two good things going for you: your college degree, and the gold bars that mark you a leader of men . . . tested, trained, trusted.

About the University of Nebraska

Chartered on February 15, 1869, the University of Nebraska opened its doors to students in 1871 as one of the American Land-Grant institutions dedicated to the extension of educational opportunity to all persons.

Now, as it approaches its centennial, the University is composed of ten colleges: Agriculture and Home Economics, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Dentistry, Engineering and Architecture, Graduate, Law, Medicine, Pharmacy, Teachers, and six schools: Architecture, Fine Arts, Graduate School of Social Work, Home Economics, Journalism, Nursing.

From a level of 10,000 students in 1962, the University's enrollment has increased 50 percent and in the fall of 1965 totaled 15,138 with men outnumbering women a little more than two to one. Almost 20 percent of the students are engaged in study beyond the baccalaureate level. The University grants the Masters Degree in 65 areas of study; the Ph.D. Degree in 39. In recent years the University has conferred approximately 2,400 degrees annually.

Apart from its regular enrollment, the University, through its Extension Division, serves 1,200 adults in evening campus classes and another 365 in off-campus classes. The Extension Division, one of the major agencies of its kind in the world, conducts almost 17,000 high school correspondence courses and over 3,000 at the college level each year. The Division also sells over 25,000 course materials annually to other institutions for use in their correspondence programs.

The University occupies three campuses, two in Lincoln—the City, covering 140 acres, and the East (formerly Ag) covering 345 acres—and one in Omaha, the Medical College campus, 25 acres. The Medical College and School of Nursing are part of a growing medical complex in Omaha. The College and the State Department of Public Institutions operate the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, a research, training, and treatment center on the campus. The Medical College also operates the Eppley Institute for Research in Cancer and Allied Diseases.

University Agricultural Experiment Stations are located near Scottsbluff, Alliance, Crawford, North Platte, and in northeast Nebraska, near Concord. A University Agricultural Field Laboratory of 8,500 acres is located at Mead. The University School of Agriculture at Curtis is now being converted from a boarding high school to a School for Technical Agriculture.

In the decade closing in 1965, the University completed new construction and remodeling totaling $40 million, over half accomplished without the use of state tax funds. A six-year capital improvements program, involving $47.5 million in state support, is now under way. Its projects include such major improvements as a new University Hospital and a new science and engineering complex.

Within its total program the University has:

The Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, serving adult and youth groups with educational conferences, seminars, and meetings. Since its opening in 1961, more than 100,000 persons have participated in conferences at the Center, a $3 million facility made possible by a grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation and volunteer subscriptions.

The Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery, one of the finest small art museums, made possible by bequests from the late A. B. Sheldon of Lexington, and his sister, Miss Frances, of Lincoln. The building, sheathed in Italian travertine marble, was designed by Philip Johnson, noted New York museum architect.

The University of Nebraska State Museum, containing an internationally-known collection of prehistoric elephants, the Mueller Planetarium Theater and Health Science exhibits.

Educational Television Station KUON, one of the pioneers in ETV and now one of the originating stations of Nebraska's new Educational Television Network.

The University of Nebraska Press, one of the top 10 American university publishers, and publisher of The Prairie Schooner, a well-known literary quarterly.

The Tractor Testing Laboratory, where American-made and many foreign tractors are brought for testing by widely-used standards developed by Nebraska agricultural engineers.

The new C. Y. Thompson Library, on East Campus, named for a veteran member of the Board of Regents. The building has won citations from architectural societies and from the American Library Association.

The University inaugurated the first program of graduate education west of the Mississippi in the mid-1880's and in 1906 won membership in the Association of American Universities, a select group requiring high faculty quality. The proportion of University faculty members holding doctoral degrees continues well above the national average.

PENNY EDWARDS—MISS TIPARILLO®

What does she mean "cigars...cigarettes...Tiparillos"?

You'll be hearing that chant more and more—now that Tiparillos have arrived. And arrived they have. In all the right places. With all the right people. *

The new Tiparillo has a neat, trim shape. It looks young and debonair. And its pearly, pliable tip pays more than lip service to your smoking pleasure.

And never before such mildness! The most careful blending of choicest imported tobaccos has seen to that. So, too, has the exclusive, veinless Ultra Cigar Wrapper* that burns so evenly and smoothly it insures complete mildness.

You can even see the mildness. The surprisingly whiter ash is visible evidence. Smoker's proof. Here is flavor you don't have to inhale to enjoy.

"Cigars . . . cigarettes . . . ?" Who knows, maybe someday it will be just "Tiparillos!"

Why don't you ask for one today?

Thanksgiving Day

FROM THE CHANCELLOR

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin

Welcome to the University of Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day 1965. We are pleased to have you as guests in the stadium and in the nationwide television audience.

We as a nation have many things to be thankful for on this day which is a part of our American heritage. We pay homage to those hardy pioneers who overcame adversities of their era so that we might enjoy the bountiful resources of a new land.

Just as it required pioneering effort to sustain life in those days, this same type of determination is needed today to meet the challenges of an era which is changing faster than any period in the history of mankind. The frontiers have changed, but pioneering effort remains as an integral part of any progress we make in the 20th century.

Like similar institutions in society today, the University of Nebraska is changing to meet the needs of Nebraska and its people. Increasingly, the University is being called upon to play its role in the development of Nebraska through education of its youth, research for its industrial growth, and continuing education for its adult citizens.

During the decade of the sixties our enrollment is expected to double. We have already passed the 15,000 mark and we shall have many more undergraduate students before there is any leveling off in numbers. In spite of rapid growth, we are regarded as an institution that does take a special interest in the individual student.

While there are many demands on the University, the need to provide a learning opportunity of excellence for all students continues to be our largest responsibility. Teaching must command our best efforts today and in the years ahead.

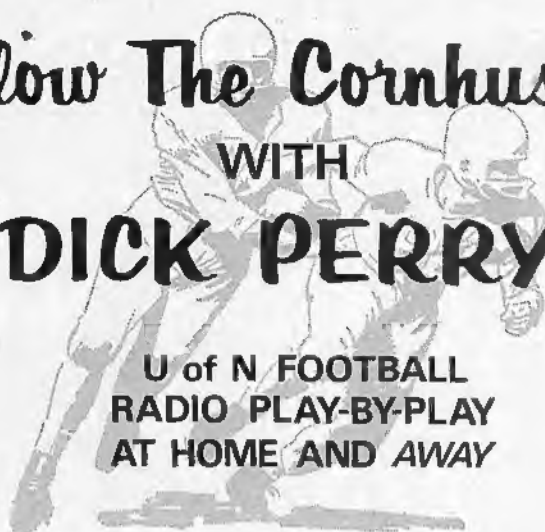

Sincerely,

Clifford M. Hardin

How do athletes handle athlete's foot?

They follow their trainers' advice and use Desenex® for prevention and treatment

It's excellent protection against itching, cracking and irritation of Athlete's Foot. Helps prevent spreading, too. No wonder Desenex is the Athlete's Foot treatment most widely used by college football trainers.

We know you don't have a trainer to keep you on your toes. But that's no reason to suffer from Athlete's Foot. Start using Desenex yourself. Avoid Athlete's Foot problems with Desenex Powder or new, cooling Desenex Aerosol—and for treatment use Desenex Ointment. Desenex is guaranteed to work or your money back.

TV Producer Uses Football Background

Bud Wilkinson

Lindsey Nelson

Terry Brennan

There's nothing out of the ordinary about a famous sports star adopting the microphone on radio or TV once his playing days are over. Cases in point include Red Grange, Tommy Harmon, Dizzy Dean, Bud Palmer, Phil Rizzuto, Joe Garagiola, and a host of others who have become as well, or better known reporting the plays as they were making them.

Announcers today — Lindsey Nelson, Terry Brennan and Bud Wilkinson—all have sports backgrounds.

Unique in the group is Lou Kusserow, the former All-America halfback at Columbia University and professional gridder, who forsook on-camera glamor to become a producer of sports programs, a job that keeps him behind the scenes.

"I had a taste of that business in front of the camera," Kusserow relates. "I wanted to see if I could do something else."

This moment of decision, which has led to his current assignments producing NBC-TV's weekly telecasts of top NCAA games and the major action in the American Football League, came in the winter of 1956 when he joined NBC in the business affairs office of facilities operations. The divorce from the life he had known up until then couldn't have been more complete.

Kusserow was born and grew up in the heart of Pennsylvania's "football belt" which has produced many of the country's top football players.

His performance on the high school gridiron in Glassport, Pa., brought him to the attention of intercollegiate scouts, and in 1945 he found himself a potential appointee to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point and high on the list for membership in the Army powerhouse that had been acceded top national ranking for two years in a row. The post-World War II years were hectic and unpredictable, however, and the close friendship between Army Coach Earl "Red" Blaik and the Columbia mentor Lou Little found Kusserow in "temporary" quarters on the Columbia campus.

A temporary situation grew into permanence as Kusserow developed into the chief ball carrier for Little's Lions, and performed with a degree of excellence that won him All-East ranking in 1945, 1946, and 1947, and All-America honors in 1948. He was a member of the East squad in the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco in January, 1949.

Once out of college, Kusserow played with the New York Yankees of the now-defunct All-America Conference in 1949 and 1950, went into the Army for two years, and then joined the Hamilton, Ontario, club in the Canadian Football League for seasons 1953 through 1956. He was voted an All-Pro each year of his service, and participated in the first Canadian Shrine game in Toronto.

In the winter of 1956, he joined NBC and nine months later found himself, not unpredictably, on the staff of NBC Sports. Since Jan. 1, 1958, he has borne the title of producer of NBC Sports programs.

The producer is responsible not only for millions of dollars worth of equipment, but assembling it in the stadium to assure the best coverage.

He's also concerned with commercials and their proper placement during the telecast, working with network departments on such matters as promotion of the event, elucidation of plans to all who care, and the thousand-and-one incidentals that may go unnoticed on the air but are prime factors in a smooth-running live telecast of an event.

Orange Bowl and Hawaiian Tours Sponsored by Nebraska Alumni Association

MEMBERSHIP in the Nebraska Alumni Association entitles one to participate in the special tours that are designed both for football fans and for vacation travel. This year there are two specific tours we would like to mention.

For the past two years the Alumni Association has sponsored flights to the bowl games to which the Nebraska football team has been invited and there will be another flight to the Orange Bowl this year. As this is written, final arrangements are still being made but although the length of time the tour will take and the exact expense of the flight have yet to be determined, we can give you the following basic details.

These are charter flights and we try to use only regularly scheduled airlines if enough planes are available. The cost of the tour includes the flight, football tickets for the game, and space in a double room at one of the hotels in Bal Harbour in Miami (on the beach). We are trying to make arrangements for several hotels in this area so that as many Alumni and students as possible may be housed in the same area. As it was two years ago, the Alumni Headquarters in Miami will be at the Harbour Inn.

Alumni or associate members wishing further details on this tour may write the Alumni Association office, 238 Nebraska Union, Lincoln.

The vacation tour this year will be a trip to Hawaii beginning March 9 with return flight on March 23, or, if you include a return voyage by ship the trip will take an additional five days. This Hawaiian tour includes not only several days spent in Honolulu and Oahu but also several days spent touring three of the "neighbor" islands of Maui, Hawaii and Kauai. There will be plenty of time for such leisurely pursuits as golf, swimming, sunning and shopping as well as short tours to see some of the more famous and beautiful attractions of the islands.

Nebraska Alumni Association members leaving for the Orange Bowl flight to Miami two years ago.

THE cost of the tour will be approximately $775.00 per person flying from Lincoln and back or $605.00 if you choose to join the flight and return to Los Angeles. The price for those who decide to return by ship will need to be quoted individually because the total depends on the type of accommodations you choose on the Lurline. This cost includes all transportation for the group as a whole, the hotel accommodations (based on double room occupancy) and the meals on the outer islands. The cost of meals while in Honolulu is not included because of the variety of restaurants and eating establishments available.

For further details about the Hawaiian tour please write to the Alumni office, 238 Nebraska Union, Lincoln, Nebraska and we will send you an attractive brochure listing day-by-day schedule and other items of interest.

Remember, participation in the game flights and tours is only one advantage available to members and associate members of the Alumni Association. Your support of the Alumni Association is always welcome.

The stay at Waikiki Beach and famed Diamond Head are just two of the attractions to be seen on the tour to Hawaii next March.

*STEP OUT FRONT
IN '66... in a Rockin' Action Olds!*

44-2 Swinging new kind of sports car excitement!

400-cubic-inch V-8, 4-barrel carb, twin pipes. Buckle up and have yourself a ball! This is the 350-hp 4-4-2. With heavy-duty suspension, built to K.O. the roughest roads. Front and rear stabilizers to take the "bend" out of curves, the bind out of corners. And under it all—pavement-biting red-line tires! But the swinging-est thing about Olds 4-4-2 is its surprisingly modest price!

TRADE MARK (R)

Introducing the tuned car. 1966 Buick.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. Like this '66 Riviera Gran Sport.

Every last thing that goes into a Buick—suspension, body mounts, shock absorbers—not only has to work, it has to work with everything else. That's tuning.

Tuning is what we do more of (and care more about) than anybody we know of. And then we go out and test it in more places, too. On roads like the ones you'll be driving on. Why we do it will be obvious when you take your first ride. The tuned car rides and handles as handsomely as it looks. (Tuning may be hard to explain. But it's easy to notice.)

What the tuned car will do for you. And your family. For a start, the new Riviera will comfort you. You'll see that when you slip into the Riviera's new bench seats. Space for six. If you like buckets, they're available, with a reclining arrangement for the right-front passenger. And we have another comforting option available: a new notch-back seat that converts from bench to semi-bucket.

Choosing the tuned car. Visit your Buick dealer. Every Buick you see is the tuned car. Riviera, the new international classic. Riviera Gran Sport. Every '66 Buick.

And with a choice like that, how in the world can you go wrong?

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Touchdown Club Helps Husker Program

One of the groups most instrumental in helping the University of Nebraska Athletic Department grow in the field of intercollegiate sports is the Nebraska Touchdown Club.

Contributions from TD Club members have enabled the Cornhuskers to build a fine grant-in-aid program and continued support from the Touchdown Club and groups like the Husker Achievement Awards, the Extra Point Club and the Cornhusker Beef Club will insure that the Nebraska Cornhuskers will always hold a prominent place in the college sports world.

The University of Nebraska Athletic Department salutes the many members of the Touchdown Club and takes this opportunity to say a sincere "Thank You."

Touchdown Club members contributing $100 or more are:

DEVANEY GETS BEEF

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney, third from left, accepts reserve grand champion market steer that was sold for $1.70 per pound at the Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock Show in Omaha. The steer, owned by Bernard Nowlan of Melbourne, Iowa, was bought by Safeway Stores, Inc., and was immediately turned over to the University of Nebraska football team for its training table. The presentation to Devaney was made by Paul Hendrix, second from left, of Safeway while Arden Aegerter, director of activities for Ak-Sar-Ben, left, looks on.

Why the NU Foundation Deserves Your Support

The purpose of the University of Nebraska Foundation is simple: To solicit, receive, and administer funds to make the State University more effective in its work, more inspiring to the students, and more useful to the State.

Gifts given to the Foundation are invested in a sound, but vigorous, ever-growing investment program. Just this past year, the University Board of Regents passed a resolution stating:

"All gifts of money, securities and other funds to the University of Nebraska can be handled most economically and expeditiously and can be invested to the greatest advantage of the University if said gifts are made to the University of Nebraska Foundation rather than directly to the University or to the Board of Regents of the University."

During the past 20 years, benefits totaling more than $7 million have been turned over to the University by the NU Foundation—all directed toward making the University a Greater University. In dollars, it has averaged around $700,000 each year in recent years, but in actual expenditures, it spells the margin between adequacy and excellence for our State University.

Besides faculty and student assistance, here a few of the benefits of voluntary support by alumni and friends of the University.

—Most all of the displays in the STATE MUSEUM (Morrill Hall) have been paid for through voluntary support, such as the Hall of Wildlife, and Elephant Hall.

—Every piece of art in the Sheldon Gallery was purchased by voluntary support. And as a result, the Gallery has one of the finest small modern art collections in the country.

—Lectureships, awards and prizes are supported through gifts.

—The Nebraska Center for English Curriculum grew to its present position of national prominence, as a result of an initial gift of $10,000 in 1960.

—Educational Television started with a gift in the early 1950's and now has developed into the Nebraska Television Network.

—The staff and operation of the Student Health Center was financed at the beginning with voluntary support. And today, the Mental Health Program is still being paid for by an annual gift.

These are just highlights of what voluntary support has meant to your State University.

YOU ARE INVITED TO PARTICIPATE WITH 7,500 ALUMNI AND FRIENDS IN THE NU FOUNDATION'S ANNUAL-GIVING PROGRAM

EDUCATIONAL AND ATHLETIC AWARD
PROGRAM

*Presented in Bronze
Plaques*

An appreciation plaque is located in the lobby of the Coliseum.

The Husker Educational Athletic Award program is a program established five years ago under the joint sponsorship of the University of Nebraska Alumni Association, the University of Nebraska Foundation, and the University of Nebraska Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It is a worthwhile attempt on the part of these organizations to help provide a stabilized athletic program for your state university. It has met with enthusiastic support from business leaders all over Nebraska and from other friends of the University.

All grants are under the rules and regulations of the NCAA and Big Eight Conference and meet the approval of the Faculty Committee on Scholarships. The awards are based upon scholarship, character, and athletic participation.

HALF TIME-ANYTIME-MAKE IT MILK!

Busy football weekends call for extra energy. And that calls for a refreshing glass of milk. Milk is nature's vitality drink... that helps you stay in peak condition, sees you through the busiest fall days.

Half time; snacktime, anytime—when you take a break, make it milk. Keep up with the fun with milk's vitality!
